
Altice USA and Amdocs Enter into Multi-Year Partnership to Establish Industry-Leading Business and Operational Support Systems

With this partnership, Altice USA, as a bold and fast service provider, accelerates its innovation cycle, brings service convergence and delivers a superior customer experience

NEW YORK AND ST. LOUIS — Sept. 7, 2017 — Altice USA (NYSE: ATUS), one of the largest broadband communications and video service operators in the U.S. and the provider of Optimum and Suddenlink-branded internet, TV, phone services and Amdocs (NASDAQ: DOX), a leading provider of software and services to communications and media companies, today announced that they have extended their partnership and entered into a multi-year agreement for key business and operational support systems. The arrangement will help accelerate the migration to a single Altice USA platform, simplify and modernize technology operations and provide a better experience to Altice USA customers.

As Altice USA continues to integrate its Cablevision and Suddenlink legacy business and operating systems and platforms, the industry-leading approach is supported by a hybrid solution combining architecture developed by Altice Labs as well as systems from Amdocs, enabling a simpler, more agile and efficient customer-centric system. The solution enables Altice USA to quickly and flexibly design and launch new innovative offerings and bundles, accelerate order orchestration and fulfillment over its existing fiber infrastructure and next generation fiber network, enable superior omni-channel customer service experience, and future-proof its systems to prepare for next-generation products and services.

Amdocs' market-leading ability to automate and modernize complex environments, and create intellectual property in operational best practices at scale, met Altice's demand for a strategic partner to help it innovate and deliver new converged services faster and more efficiently.

"As we focus on the future needs of our customers, having a simple, flexible and efficient support system is a vital part of our strategy. By combining the technological strengths of Altice with the capabilities of Amdocs, we are creating a unique infrastructure that will enhance and unify the customer experience we offer in the U.S. as we launch new, innovative products and services for our customers. Amdocs is a valued, long-standing partner for Altice USA and we look forward to working together to create the backbone that will enable best-in-class connectivity solutions for years to come," said Hakim Boubazine, Co-President and Chief Operating Officer, Altice USA.

"Altice USA is a major powerhouse, delivering broadband, pay television, telephony services, Wi-Fi hotspot access, proprietary content and advertising services to residential and business customers. They are innovative and agile and focused on delivering on the promise of full convergence in this hyper-competitive market. We are delighted to partner with Altice in the U.S. on this industry-leading solution," said Eric Updyke, group president, Amdocs Services.
