Other Suddenlink Internet Speeds Have Been Increased at No Added Charge

CLOVIS, N.M. (Oct. 4, 2016) – Altice USA announced today that it is now offering Suddenlink internet service with an up to 1 Gigabit per second download speed in Clovis and Texico, N.M., as well as Farwell, Texas. The company also announced today that it has increased certain other Suddenlink residential internet speeds at no additional cost to customers.

“Altice USA has provided great new opportunities by making its new 1 Gigabit internet service available for all Suddenlink customers in New Mexico,” said Lt. Gov. John Sanchez. “This service will allow our local citizens and businesses to take advantage of today’s technology and help make this part of the state an even more attractive place to live and do business.”

“Today’s announcement is the next step in Operation GigaSpeed, the company-wide plan we announced in August of 2014,” said Altice USA Vice President of Suddenlink Operations Brian Borthwick. “In sharp contrast to other large providers, which are offering a Gigabit service primarily to a few neighborhoods in large urban markets, we’re pleased to be making our Suddenlink Gigabit service available in all of the neighborhoods and to all of the households and businesses we serve throughout Clovis, Texico and Farwell.”

Borthwick added that local business owners also will have access to the new Gigabit service, along with Suddenlink customized services the company offers that are capable of multi-Gigabit speeds.

In addition to launching the 1 Gigabit internet service today, residential high-speed internet customers with current download speeds up to 75 and 100 Megabits per second (Mbps) have been moved to services with download speeds up to 100 and 200 Mbps, respectively, at no added charge. The standard Suddenlink residential internet download speeds in Clovis, Texico and Farwell are now up to 50, 100, and 200 Mbps, along with the new up to 1 Gig service.
